MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

IN RE: VALSARTAN PRODUCTS LIABILITY LITIGATION

MDL No. 2875

TRANSFER ORDER

Before the Panel: Plaintiff Carrie Collins moves under Panel Rule 7.1 to vacate our orders conditionally transferring the two actions listed on Schedule A to MDL No. 2875. In one action, plaintiff brings putative statewide class claims against defendants Princeton Pharmaceutical Inc., and Solco Healthcare U.S., LLC, based on their alleged role in the manufacture of generic valsartan drugs (the Princeton action). In the second action, plaintiff brings similar putative class claims against another manufacturer, Aurobindo Pharma USA, Inc. (APUSA) and Aurobindo Ltd. (the Aurobindo action). Defendants Princeton Pharmaceutical, Solco Healthcare, and APUSA oppose the motions to vacate and support transfer.

After considering the argument of counsel, we find these actions involve common questions of fact with the actions in MDL No. 2875 and that transfer under 28 U.S.C. § 1407 will serve the convenience of the parties and witnesses and promote the just and efficient conduct of the litigation. Like the actions in the MDL, these actions involve factual questions arising from allegations that the defendants manufactured or sold generic valsartan containing nitrosamine impurities known as NDMA and NDEA,¹ that the impurities present a risk of cancer and other injuries, and that plaintiff suffered damages as a result. See In re: Valsartan N-Nitrosodimethylamine (NDMA) Contamination Prods. Liab. Litig., 363 F. Supp. 3d 1378, 1380-81 (J.P.M.L. 2019).

In support of the motions to vacate, plaintiff principally argues that the actions were improperly removed, and the transferor courts should decide the issues presented in plaintiff's motions for remand to state court. The pendency of jurisdictional objections are not, as a general matter, a sufficient reason to deny transfer. See, e.g., In re: Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. Sales Practices Litig., 170 F. Supp. 2d 1346, 1347-48 (J.P.M.L. 2001). Moreover, after the filing of plaintiff's motion to vacate in one of the actions (Collins v. Aurobindo), the transferor court resolved the jurisdictional objections in that action and denied plaintiff's remand motion. Plaintiff can present the remand arguments in the other action to the transferee judge.

Plaintiff also asserts that the Class Action Fairness Act (CAFA) bars transfer of these actions, citing Panel precedent concerning CAFA's restriction on transfer of "mass actions." See Pl.'s Reply Mem., Doc. No. 296, at 1-3 (citing In re: Darvocet, Darvon and Propoxyphene Prods. Liab. Litig., 939 F. Supp. 2d 1376 (J.P.M.L. 2013)). But nothing in the Panel's Darvocet decision or CAFA prevents transfer of these putative class actions. Darvocet interpreted a restriction applicable to transfer of “mass actions” only, not class actions.² The face of each complaint states that each action is a “statewide class action,”³ and plaintiff has never asserted that the actions are “mass actions” under CAFA.

Additionally, plaintiff contends that transfer will be inefficient because the putative classes in the actions are California purchasers of valsartan, and the claims rest on California laws as to which California courts have extensive experience. These arguments are unconvincing. The putative statewide classes in Prinston and Aurobindo overlap with the putative nationwide class and California subclass in the MDL, and California law claims are pending before the transferee court.⁴ Thus, centralization will eliminate duplicative discovery and prevent inconsistent pretrial rulings, including with respect to class certification.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the actions listed on Schedule A are transferred to the District of New Jersey and, with the consent of that court, assigned to the Honorable Robert B. Kugler for inclusion in the coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings.

² See Darvocet, 939 F. Supp. 2d at 1378 (“CAFA expanded access to the federal courts for a new category of cases called ‘mass actions.’ At the same time, however, CAFA limited the Panel’s authority to transfer actions removed as ‘mass actions.’ See § 1332(d)(11)(C)(i) [W]e are confronted with the question whether the provision [Section 1332(d)(11)(C)(i)] applies to an action that has been removed on multiple bases, including as a mass action”).

⁴ Transferee judges routinely are called upon to apply the laws of more than one state. See In re: CVS Caremark Corp. Wage and Hour Emp’t Practices Litig., 684 F. Supp. 2d 1377, 1378 (J.P.M.L. 2010).
